The Spanish Ballad in English Sep 17 2021 This study offers an introduction to an important branch of Spanish literature -- the romance, or ballad. Although a great many of these poems have been translated into English by various authors, they are not generally known nor easily accessible. Collected here for the first time in a single volume is a broad and representative sampling of romances in translation that encompasses historical ballads (including those about Spain's greatest folk hero, el Cid), Moorish ballads, and ballads of chivalry, love, and adventure. For the collection, Shasta M. Bryant has written a perceptive commentary and critique in which he discusses the individual poems and compares the translation with the original; both texts are presented to facilitate comparison. For those who wish to pursue their reading further there is an index of romances that have been translated into English, along with the names of the translators. Although the text has been written with the non-specialist in mind, this book will be equally valuable for students of comparative literature and of medieval Spain.

Why Spanish Novels Everyday dialogues Multiple genres Engaging stories Step by step approach Contextual learning A High Advanced (C2) Spanish Reader in EVERYDAY Language From the First Chapter: Cuando llegaron los bomberos la casa era una bola de fuego. Los dos pisos de la mansión estaban envueltos en llamas, oscurecidos por una nube negra. A las 2.05 de la madrugada, la llama gigante iluminaba prácticamente toda la cuadra. Era como si hubiera salido el sol a mitad de la noche. Los primeros en llamar a los bomberos fueron los vecinos de enfrente. Una pareja de ancianos que tenían su habitación con frente a la calle. A las 2am estaban durmiendo, pero la llama no tardó demasiado en despertarlos. Apenas vieron el fuego en el primer piso de la casa, el hombre de la casa corrió al teléfono para pedir ayuda. Los bomberos no tardaron ni cinco minutos en llegar a la casa. Había fuego por todas partes, desde la planta baja hasta el techo. Siguiendo el protocolo estándar que regía en todas las ciudades de España, el cuerpo de bomberos coordinó el plan de acción. Dos personas eran las encargadas de rociar la casa con agua a presión para sofocar las llamas. Simultáneamente, otros dos bomberos ingresarían a la mansión en busca de gente atrapada. Debían actuar de forma sincronizada y con máxima precisión. En estos casos, dos o tres segundos hacían la diferencia entre la vida y la muerte de una persona.
