Our Muslim Neighbors Oct 12 2020 The American Dream is alive and well in this memoir of a Muslim immigrant from India who arrived planning to start a business, working so hard toward his personal goals that he even pumped gas and sold vacuum cleaners door to door. Victor Begg successfully built a thriving, regional chain of furniture stores. Along the way, he discovered that America's greatest promise lies in building healthy communities with our neighbors. "In one book, I have come to understand much more about Islam, its followers and its teachings," Rabbi Bruce Benson writes in the book's Foreword. "I've come to realize that the challenges Muslim immigrants have faced are similar to what Jews and many other immigrant groups have experienced as they tried to settle in America. By the end of this book, I hurt with Victor and I laugh with him, because—as Americans—we share so much. We are him. His journey is our journey. This is our story." As Victor reached out to others, he used his entrepreneurial skills to co-found a new kind of ethnically diverse mosque as well as influential nonprofits designed to help others. Agreeing to serve as a regional spokesperson for Muslims, he got more than he bargained for—responding to tragedies that included 9/11 and a massacre in a Florida nightclub. "Person by person, friend by friend, good-hearted people change the world," Victor writes in this memoir. His greatest talents turned out to be his ongoing ability to invite all of us to open our hearts, roll up our sleeves and reach out to help each other. "We need stories of our Muslim neighbors like Victor Begg to break down the walls that separate us and to educate us about those who might seem so strange, at first, but might become heart friends if given the chance," writes the Rev. Daniel L. Buttry in the book's Preface. "Along the way, we might discover some true American heroes. Victor is just such a hero: selfless, ordinary, but willing to risk to make our nation and our world a better place." In this era when media outlets echo with extremist claims demonizing immigrants and Muslims, in particular, readers will discover how much American families share in our diversity of faiths and ethnicities. "A lot of foggy information clouds the American brain concerning Muslims. Victor's representative story, his steady, 40-year love affair with America, blows much of it away," writes Michael Wolfe, a filmmaker and author of One Thousand Roads to Mecca. "This book's importance really is global, considering how often migrants, refugees and Muslims in particular are demonized by extremists around the world,” writes Larbi Mageri, a Muslim journalist based in Algeria who is a co-founder of the International Association of Religion Journalists. “One of the biggest challenges for Muslims who have never visited the U.S. is getting a clear sense of how Muslims live there in these turbulent times. There are so many conflicting claims and stories about life in the U.S. Through reading Victor’s true stories, I was able to experience American life for Muslims—without ever leaving my home. The lasting impression I am left with, after reading Victor’s memoir, is that anyone would be lucky to have a Muslim neighbor like this living next door.” Ultimately, Victor invites readers to pray with him: “God bless America.” As you follow him along this remarkable journey, as you catch his vision of a vibrant America—you are likely to find your own family and your own values mirrored in his story. You’re likely to want to share this book with friends and join in building a better world.

Video Marketing Made Simple For Business Owners Jan 27 2022 Video Marketing is literally on fire! Embrace the Power and Potential of Video Marketing And use this medium to catapult your web business to the next level. Check out on “ Video Marketing Made Simple For Business Owners ” Finally, you have this once in lifetime opportunity to get your hands on the video marketing tools & Strategies that are generating million dollar revenues . Businesses invest a lot of time determining who their target demographic is, and for good reason. When a business knows which demographic is buying and using their product, it’s going to be easier to market to that demographic. Middle-aged women are going to respond to ads differently than millennials; and what one group finds engaging and interesting, another may not. So it’s important for businesses to understand what demographic they are targeting so they get the marketing just right for them. But, businesses don’t have to go to such trouble when they’re using video marketing because video marketing reaches every demographic and is interesting to every demographic. And this is because men and women, and people of every age, love video. As long as it’s interesting and creative, people will like a video regardless of their background or history. This can be a bonus for businesses that know who their demographic is, simply because more people will share it and like it, even if they don’t make up part of the business’ demographic. But it’s also especially good news for businesses with a shifting demographic, or for those that don’t know how makes up their demographic. That happens sometimes when a business changes directions or changes their product or service slightly, and then they have to start back at square one with their marketing efforts. But when a business has already created videos as part of their marketing plan, they don’t have to change a thing because those videos will already be suitable for every demographic. Imagine one type of marketing that appeals to every single demographic. It seems too good to be true, but it’s not. That type of marketing is video marketing, and reaching every demographic is just one very good reason why every business should be investing in it.
